ATLANTA and DANBURY, Conn., July 25 /PRNewswire/ -- eMD.com, a business-to-business Internet healthcare subsidiary of BioShield Technologies, Inc.(Nasdaq: BSTI), and MDHost.com, Inc. have signed a strategic alliance agreement to include eMD.com's Web-based medication management and charting system in MDHost's Internet-based physician practice management system.

Under the agreement, MDHost will fully integrate eMD.com's application into its system, making it available to MDHost's current user base of 400 plus physicians and their staff nationwide, as well as to all future users. Over 1,000 users are expected to have access to the medication management and fulfillment applications.

MDHost.com, Inc. is a Healthcare Internet Application Service Provider that offers practitioners the convenience of Internet access to their patient appointments, patient records, claims processing, patient billing and all other services associated with running a medical practice. The Company offers a hosting service that allows physicians to automate their entire practice via the Internet. Physicians have 24 hour, seven days a week access to practice management services from anywhere in the world. MDHost.com, Inc. develops and markets MDHost, a complete fully integrated line of healthcare information management solutions designed for physician organizations.

The additional services from MDHost and eMD.com will not result in any additional fees to physician practices. eMD.com offers its Internet-based medication management and charting system to physicians at no charge, and integrates the application with its chronic disease focused consumer website (www.emd.com) and a host of pharmaceutical care services.

"We are extremely pleased to partner with an Internet-based practice management leader like MDHost to bring the advantages of online medication prescribing, fulfillment, prescription charting and a host of clinical services to hundreds of physicians and their patients," said Sharon Allred, executive vice president, Provider Sales and Development, eMD.com.

Under the agreement, eMD.com will provide all necessary training and support on its application to MDHost's designated trainers and sales force. The companies will also work together to ensure the proper training of MDHost's current end-users.

According to MDHost President, Jeffrey Sandilands, "Aligning with eMD.com gives us an opportunity to allow our users to automate another highly valuable aspect of their daily work flow, which will help them to reduce medication errors and improve patient outcomes. This relationship furthers our goal to provide our customers with a complete, end-to-end, web-based solution for their practice management, accessible anytime, anywhere."
